The first one of the refugees to step off the train was General Mercado. "I am completely dumbfounded by the unusual position we are in," said General Mercado. "It is something unprecedented to have a whole army division interned on foreign soil. We are grateful to the United States for the asylum afforded us and for the attention shown my soldiers. ## PRIVATE MONOPOLY HELD INTOLERABLE

Chief Executive Reads Special Message to Congress in Which He Points Out That Radical Laws Are Not Needed.

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., January 20.—President Wilson was ushered into the crowded chamber at 12:29 today. His auditors rose and gave prolonged applause and cheers. The President took his place at the clerk's desk and began reading his message at 12:30. His auditors gave rapt attention and the scene was no less dramatic than on any previous occasion when the President set aside this custom since the time of George Washington came to Congress to address the National Legislative body in person. The high banked galleries presented a wave of color. On the floor the legislators in somber conventional garb packed the hall to the upmost corners. Loud applause again greeted the conclusion of the President's address at 12:51 o'clock. As President Wilson left the hall Majority Leader Underwood grasped his hand, and on the way out, the President was delayed by many who were anxious for a handshake. The message follows:

Gentlemen of the Congress:

In my report "On the State of the Union," which I had the privilege of reading to you on the 2nd of December last, I ventured to reserve for discussion at a later date the subject of additional legislation regarding the very difficult and intricate matter of trusts and monopolies.

The time now seems opportune to turn to that great question; not only because the currency legislation, which absorbed your attention and the attention of the country in December, is now disposed of, but also because opinion seems to be clearing about us with singular rapidity in this other great field of action. In the matter of the currency it cleared suddenly and very happily after the much-debated act was passed. In respect to monopolies which have multiplied about us, and in regard to the various means by which they have been organized and maintained, it seems to be coming to a clear and all but universal agreement, in anticipation of our action, as if by way of preparation, making the way easier to see and easier to set out upon with confidence and without confusion of counsel.

Legislation has its atmosphere like everything else, and the atmosphere of accommodation and mutual understanding is essential.

STRIKERS WIN

By Associated Press.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Operations on the Delaware and Hudson Railway were resumed today and the system presented a striking contrast to the paralyzed conditions of yesterday. The strike came to an end last night when officials of the company acceded to the demands of the employees.

By the terms of the agreement of employees those who had been discharged were restored to their former positions.

DECISION UPHELD

By Associated Press.

Columbus, O., Jan. 20.—The supreme court today affirmed the lower court in the case of the Portsmouth railway company vs. John D. Borer, administrator.

standing which we now breathe with so much refreshment is a matter of sincere congratulation. We ought to make our task very much less difficult and embarrassing than it would have been had we been obliged to continue to act amidst the atmosphere of suspicion and antagonism, which has so long made it impossible to approach such questions with dispassionate fairness. Constructive legislation, when successful, is always the embodiment of convincing experience, and of the mature public opinion which finally springs out of that experience. Legislation is a business of interpretation, not of origination; and it is now plain what the opinion is to which we must give effect in this matter. It is not recent or hasty opinion. It springs out of the experience of a whole generation. It has clarified itself by long contests, and those who for a long time battled with it and sought to change it are now frankly and honorably yielding to it and seeking to conform their actions to it.

Denied by Business Men.
The great business men who organized and financed monopoly, and those who administered it in actual every-day transactions have year after year, until now, either denied its existence or justified it as necessary for the effective maintenance and development of the vast business processes of the country in the modern circumstances of trade and manufacture and finance; but all the while opinion has made headway against them. The average business man is convinced that the ways of liberty are also the ways of peace and the way of success as well; and at last the masters of business on the great scale have begun to yield their preference and purpose, perhaps their judgment also, in honorable surrender.

What we are purposing to do, therefore, is, happily, not to hamper or interfere with business and as enlightened business men prefer to do it, or in any sense to put it through until the antagonism between business and government is over.

We are now about to give expression to the best business judgment of America, to what we know to be the business conscience and honor of the land. The government and business men are ready to meet each other half way in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law. The best informed men of the business world condemn the methods and processes and consequences of monopoly as we condemn them, and the instinctive judgment of the vast majority of business everywhere goes with them. We shall now be their spokesmen. That is the strength of our position and the sure prophecy of what will ensue when our reasonable work is done.

When serious contest ends, when men unite in opinion and purpose, those who are to change their ways of business with those who asked for the change, it is possible to effect it in the way in which prudent and thoughtful and patriotic men would wish to see it brought about, with as few, as slight, as easy and simple business readjustments as possible in the circumstances, nothing essential disturbed, nothing torn up by the roots, no parts rent asunder which can be left in wholesome combination.

Fortunately, no measures of sweeping or novel change are necessary. It will be understood that our object is not to unsettle business or anywhere seriously break its established courses athwart. On the contrary, we desire the laws we are now about to pass to be the bulwarks and safeguards of industry against the forces that have disturbed it. What we have to do can be done in a new spirit, in thought moderation, without revolution of any untoward kind.

We are all agreed that "private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable," and our program is founded upon that conviction. It will be a comprehensive, but not a radical or unacceptable program, and these are its items, the changes which opinion deliberately sanctions and for which business waits.

Interlocking Directorates.
It waits with acquiescence, in the first place, for laws which will effectually prohibit and prevent such interlockings of the personnel of the directorates of great corporations—banks and railroads, industrial, commercial and public service bodies—as in effect result in making those who borrow and those who lend practically one and the same; those who sell and those who buy but the same persons trading with one another under different names and in different combinations, and those who affect to compete in fact partners and masters of the same whole field of business.

Sufficient time should be allowed, of course, in which to effect these changes of organization without inconvenience or confusion. Such a prohibition will work much more than a negative good by correcting the serious evils which have arisen because, for example, the men who have been the directing spirits of great investment banks have usurped the place which belongs to independent industrial management working in its own behalf. It will bring new men, new energies, a new spirit of initiative, new blood, into the management of our great business enterprises. It will open the field of industrial development and origination to scores of men who have been obliged to serve when their abilities entitled them to direct. It will immensely hearten the young men coming on and will greatly enrich the business activities of the whole country.

In the second place, business men, as well as those who direct public affairs, now recognize, and recognize with painful clearness, the great harm and injustice which has been done to many, if not all, of the great railroad systems of the country by the way in which they have been financed and their own distinctive interests subordinated to the interest of men who financed them, and of other business enterprises which those men wish to promote.

The country is ready, therefore, to accept, and accept with relief as well as approval, a law which will confer upon the interstate commerce commission the power to superintend and regulate the financial operations by which the railroads are henceforth to be supplied with the money they need for their proper development to meet the rapidly growing requirements of the country for increased and improved facilities of transportation.

We can not postpone action in this matter without leaving the railroads exposed to many serious handicaps and hazards; and the prosperity of the railways and the prosperity of the country are inseparably connected. Upon this question those who are chiefly responsible for the actual management and operation of the railroads have spoken very plainly and very earnestly, with a purpose we ought to be quick to accept. It will be one step and a very important one, toward the necessary separation of the business of production from the business of transportation.

Business Has Suffered.
The business of the country awaits, also, has long awaited, and has suffered because it could not obtain, further and more explicit legislative definition of the policy and meaning of the existing anti-trust law. Nothing hampers business like uncertainty. Nothing daunts or discourages it like the necessity to take chances, to run the risk of falling under the condemnation of the law before it can make sure just what the law is. Surely we are sufficiently familiar with the action, processes and methods of monopoly, and of the many hurtful restraints, to make definition possible, at any rate up to the limits of what experience has disclosed.

These practices, being now abundantly disclosed, can be explicitly, and item by item, forbidden by statute, in such terms as will practically eliminate uncertainty, the law itself and the penalty being made equally plain.

And the business men of the country desire something more than that the menace of legal process in these matters be made explicit and intelligible. They desire the advice, the definite guidance and information, which can be supplied by an administrative body, an interstate trade commission.

The opinion of the country would instantly approve of such a commission. It would not wish to see it empowered to make terms with monopoly, or in any sort of way to assume control of business, as if the government made itself responsible. It demands such a commission only as an indispensable instrument of information and publicity, as a clearing house for the facts by which both the public mind and the managers of great business undertakings should be guided, and as an instrumentality for doing justice to business where the processes of the court or the natural forces of correction outside the courts are inadequate to adjust the remedy to the wrong, in a way that will meet all the equities and circumstances of the case.

Producing industries, for example, which have passed the point up to which combination may be consistent with the public interest and the freedom of trade, can not always be dissected into their component units as readily as railroad companies or similar organizations can be. Their dissolution by ordinary legal process may oftentimes involve financial consequences likely to overwhelm the security market and bring upon it breakdown and confusion.

There ought to be an administrative commission capable of directing and shaping such corrective processes, not only in aid of the courts, but also by independent suggestion, if necessary.

Inasmuch as our object and the spirit of our action in these matters is to meet business half way in its processes of self-correction and disturb its legitimate course as little as possible, we ought to see to it, and the judgment of practical and sagacious men of affairs everywhere will applaud us if we did see to it, that penalties and punishments should fall, not upon business itself, to its confusion and interruption, but upon the individuals who use the instrumentalities of business to do things which public policy and sound business practice condemn.

Someone Is Responsible.

Every act of business is done at the command or upon the initiative of some ascertainable person or group of persons. These should be held individually responsible, and the punishment should fall upon them, not upon the business organization of which they make illegal use. It should be one of the main objects of our legislation to divest such persons of their corporate cloak, and deal with them as with those who do not represent their corporations, but merely by deliberate intention break the law.

Business men the country through would, I am sure, applaud us if we were to take effectual steps to see that the officers and directors of great business bodies were prevented from bringing them and the business of the country into disrepute and danger.

Other questions remain which will need very thoughtful and practical treatment. Enterprises, in these modern days of great individual fortunes, are oftentimes interlocked, not by being under the control of the same directors, but by the fact that the greater part of their corporate stock is owned by a single person or group of persons who are in some way intimately related in interest. We are agreed, I take it, that holding companies should be prohibited, but what of the controlling private ownership of individuals, or actually co-operative groups of individuals? Shall the private owners of capital stock be suffered to be themselves in effect holding companies? We do not wish, I suppose, to forbid the purchase of stocks by any person who pleases to buy them in such quantities as he can afford, or in any way arbitrarily to limit the sale of stocks to bona fide purchasers. Shall we require the owners of stock, when their voting power in several companies which ought to be independent of one another would constitute actual control to make election in which of them they will exercise their right to vote? This question I venture for your consideration.

Works Injustice On Public.

There is another matter in which imperative considerations of justice and fair play suggest thoughtful remedial action. Not only do many of the combinations effected, or sought to be effected in the industrial world work an injustice upon the public in general; they also directly and seriously injure the individuals who are put out of business in one unfair way or another by the many dislodging and exterminating forces of combination. I hope that we shall agree in giving private individuals who claim to have been injured by these processes the right to found their suits for redress upon the facts and judgments proved and entered in suits by the government where the government has upon its own initiative sued the combinations complained of and won its suit, and that the statute of limitations shall be suffered to run against such litigants only from the date of the conclusion of the government's action. It is not fair that the private litigant should be obliged to set up and establish age in the facts which the government has proved. He can not afford, he has not the power, to make use of such processes of inquiry as the government has command of. Thus shall individual justice be done while the processes of business are rectified and squared with the general conscience.

I have laid the case before you, no doubt, as it lies in your mind, as it lies in the thought of the country. What must every candid man say of the suggestions I have laid before you, of the plain obligations of which I have reminded you? That these are new things for which the country is not prepared? No; but that they are old things, now familiar, and must, of course, be undertaken if we are to square our laws with the thought and desire of the country. Until these things are done, conscientious business men the country over will be unsatisfied. They are in these things our mentors and colleagues. We are now about to write the additional articles of our constitution of peace, the peace that is honor and freedom and prosperity.

NEW BANK FOR PLAIN CITY PEOPLE

Plans for the organization of a state bank to take over the business of the (private) Bank of Plain City, Madison county, recently closed by the state department of banks and bankers, have been completed by Attorney Dwight Harrison, representing the new concern, and Superintendent of Banks Lattanner. All depositors will be paid in full. The deposits amount to over $300,000.

The new bank was incorporated Tuesday as the First State Bank of Plain City, with capital of $25,000 and $25,000 surplus. The incorporation papers were secured by Mr. Harrison, George W. Rhoades, N. E. Vening, M. Fultz and M. T. Frazer.

The new bank has a year to pay depositors. Had the state department liquidated the bank, depositors would have been compelled to wait at least a year for final dividends and then might not have been paid in full.

Since the bank was closed by the department, much of its paper, which was objected to by Mr. Lattanner, has been paid or amply secured. Mr. Harrison states that it is probable that not to exceed $40,000 in securities will be refused by the new concern. That which is not accepted by the new bank will be carried by individuals.

COUNTY NURSES

The last legislature passed what is known as the King bill, which empowers county commissioners to employ a county visiting nurse to be paid out of the county fund. The duty of this nurse is to aid in the prevention of disease in the county.

Many of the counties are employing the city Anti-Tuberculosis visiting nurses and they are doing much good in treating country cases and educating the country people in means of prevention.

But two counties, Jefferson and Preble, now have country nurses, though Pickaway is thinking over the plan, Circleville having had a visiting nurse last year and the county has seen the value of the work done.

PIKETON UP-TO-DATE

Piketon, Pike county, owns its city light plant and it is announced that now the plant is self-sustaining, $100 having been turned over to the town by the Light Superintendent for current use during the preceding month. This amount is over and above all expenses.

KARB OVERRIDDEN

Columbus, O., Jan. 20.—Overriding Mayor Karb's veto, the city council passed the regulatory dance hall and skating rink ordinance. It will become effective within the 30-day period, when local winter gardens, cafes and cabarets will be compelled to alter their entertainments or go out of business. The ordinance prohibits the sale of intoxicating drinks at these places.

MOTHER KILLS CHILD AND SELF

New York, Jan. 20.—After she had kissed her husband for the first time in seven years, Mrs. Theodore Olaschak killed her 10-year-old daughter and herself with gas in their home here. Her husband, who works as a baker, was led to the room where the tragedy occurred by his wife's pet spaniel when he returned home. The baker said he knew of no reason why his wife should wish to die. He said he made plenty of money and that they had had no serious quarrel.

City Loses Damage Suit

A Cleveland woman has been awarded $15,000 for injuries to her arm received in a fall on an ice-covered pavement on Superior avenue, Cleveland.

For three years she has fought the legal battle with the city, her suit being for $25,000, and the verdict returned for $15,000.

After these three years the bones have not knitted and she will probably be again compelled to go under the surgeon's knife.

A young woman, of only 31 years, her sufferings have been intense and her beautiful brown hair, according to the newspapers, has turned to silver.

Such a case as this impresses with force the necessity of keeping sidewalks free from ice and preventing their becoming the dangerous menace they were in our city a week or two ago.

City authorities can far easier enforce the street cleaning ordinance than fight a large damage suit. The enforcement of this ordinance sifts down to a plain business proposition, as well as a matter of comfort to citizens.

The mayor is strongly in favor of having the local street cleaning ordinance enforced and our citizens are expecting to be free from the annoyance and inconvenience of the past.

Courage of Convictions

Whether a believer in Woman's Suffrage, or even a sympathizer with the cause, no one can deny that the advocates of Woman's Suffrage have the courage of their convictions, and are willing to make any sacrifice to forward the movement.

In the mistaken, as it seems to us across the water, militant suffragette of the British kingdom, there seems to live the spirit of the martyr, willing to suffer, even to die, for her belief.

The same spirit, in less aggressive form, apparently inspires the suffragist of our own country.

Whether she be right or wrong, she is so firm a believer in her right to the ballot as a taxpayer, in her power to wield the ballot for the betterment of civic, economic and moral problems, and in her ability to use the ballot wisely, that she enters the campaign with equally strong "do or die" sentiments.

No sacrifice of comfort, ease or pleasure seems to be too great for the really ardent suffragist.

A notable case is that of Mrs. Richard Coke Burleson, the suffragist leader and wife of Lieutenant Burleson, of the Third field artillery, who recently announced her intention to voluntarily give up Washington society for the life of a student in the George Washington university.

She does this with the intention of making herself of greater use to the suffrage cause through a careful study of economics and the structures upon which campaigns are built.

Her devotion to the principles of equal suffrage is so great that she is perfectly willing to make any sacrifice for its good.

Mrs. Burleson is one of a number of foremost suffragists, who are devoting all their time and all their energies to the cause.

Players and Authors Can Eliminate Plays That Are Unclean

By the Rev. STEPHEN S. WISE
of New York City

OBJECTION should not be raised to the frank and serious discussion of sex problems, but the trouble is that we have had VERY MUCH FRANKNESS AND VERY LITTLE SERIOUSNESS. It is conceivable that the white slave problem could be presented in such a way as to be salutary and serviceable, but we have had white slave plays which do nothing more than STIMULATE AN UNWHOLESOME AND MORBID CURIOSITY instead of driving home a moral lesson.

WE SHALL HAVE NO BETTERING OF CONDITIONS OF THE DRAMA UNTIL THE MEN AND WOMEN OF THE STAGE BEGIN TO PROTEST AGAINST THE INDIGNITY WHICH IS OFFERED THEM IN THAT THEY ARE COMPELLED TO WASTE THEIR GIFTS UPON THE INANE AND UNCLEAN THINGS WHICH THE MODERN STAGE TOO OFTEN GIVES US.

I do not agree with a distinguished critic who condemns the "present system of ignorant and conscienceless commercial management." But it must be pointed out not only that the theater has been TOO COMPLETELY COMMERCIALIZED, but that the control of the theaters of the land has been overcentralized, an overcentralization which has made the theaters throughout the land dependent upon Broadway's theatrical sewers.

THREE THINGS MUST BE MORALIZED IF THE PLAY IS TO COME TO ITS OWN AGAIN—FIRST, THE STAGE AND THE DRAMA ITSELF, INCLUDING THE PLAYERS; SECOND, AUTHORS AND MANAGERS, AND, THIRD, THE PUBLIC.

And, greatly daring, ask for more—
I am the host.

'Tis mine to bid the guests sit down
In honeyed tones,
To carve the liver wing for Brown,
The breast for Jones,
To heap the plates with dainties rare
To give each man the gourmet's share
And make my dinner from the bare
Residual bones.

I hover round the evening through,
A silent ghost,
Complacently endured by few,
Ignored by most.
But let them flout me as they will,
One privilege is left me still,
That is—to liquidate the bill—
I am the host!

STRIKE SETTLED

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 20.—The Delaware & Hudson railroad strike has been settled and the men were ordered back to work. Normal conditions were restored within a few hours. The company agreed to reinstate the men over whose discharge the strike was called.

The settlement of the strike was brought about by G. W. W. Hanger, assistant commissioner and secretary of the federal board of mediation and conciliation, after six hours' continual conferences with representatives of the men and Vice President Sims. When he saw that the men would not yield an iota in their demand that their two fellow employees be reinstated before the strike was called off, Mr. Hanger advised Mr. Sims to give in, and the railroad's general manager did so.

FEDERALS ACTIVE

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Russell Ford and Ed Sweeney, the star battery of the New York Highlanders, were in conference with President Weeghman and Manager Tinker of the Chicago Federal league baseball team for several hours. There was a strong rumor afloat that the two big leaguers had signed contracts. Pitcher Howard Cannitz was also at the club headquarters, closeted with Manager Tinker and Doc Gessler, the latter the manager of the Pittsburgh Federal league team.

Forty ball players are said to be in town dickering with the Federals, who claim to have signed eight majors in two days.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. # LEGISLATION IS LIMITED

Attack on Administration Program Proves Futile.

HOUSE VOTES DOWN PROPOSAL

Minority Leaders Deny That Republicans Intend to Obstruct the Carrying Out of the School Program, but Insist Upon Freedom of Action. Attempt Made to Unseat Four Democrats—Legislative Review.

Columbus, O., Jan. 20.—An attack upon the administration's program to rush through needed bills and go home in four weeks was made by Representative Robert Black of Cincinnati. He tried to introduce a bill creating a state commission to make a general revision of the banking laws, and sought to validate the bill as within the scope of the session, because Governor Cox had asked for legislation to enable state banks to conform to the national currency law.

Objection to admitting the bill was made by Representative Lowry of Henry, for it was instantly perceived that if it were permissible under the constitution to give the governor's recommendations a generic interpretation, the gates would be thrown open to a flood of legislation and the four weeks' session extended to four months.

Speaker Swain, who had the support of Attorney General Hogan, announced he would be guided during the session by the spirit and not the technicalities of the constitutional restrictions on action, and ruled that Black's bill was wholly outside the defined scope. Black appealed from the chair, but only two members, Bishop of Summit, Democrat, and Kemmerer of Carroll, Republican, stood with him. So this important precedent was set at the outset of the session, and the chance for an endless series of obstructive tactics was cut off.

The attitude of the Republican minority was defined when Senator Charles J. Howard of Belmont, senate leader, and Representative C. A. Reid of Fayette, house leader of the Republicans, declined to appear to have pledged the Republican members to the administration's school program by introducing bills handed to them for that purpose by Governor Cox. The seven Republican senators met and represented by Howard that the administration plan was to commit the Republicans to the entire official program in advance. Similar pressure was brought to bear on Reid by house Republicans, led by Dr. Jenkins of Madison. It was strongly denied that the Republicans intend to obstruct the carrying out of the program, but freedom of action was deemed desirable.

After Four Democrats.

Representative Diser offered resolutions for bipartisan investigation of the right of four Democratic members of the house to hold their seats because of having accepted state appointments and pay during the legislative recess, contrary to the constitution, and for probing the disappearance of the famous Mooney bill of last session, which required state officers to deposit receipts in the state treasury.

Speaker Swain deferred ruling on the admissibility of the resolutions. The big flood protection bill to provide for the erection by common pleas courts of conservancy districts, to build reservoirs, drain marsh lands, irrigate farms, use water power for production of electric power for manufacturing, was introduced in the house by Mr. Vonderheide of Montgomery.

Automobile owners will secure a reduction of motor taxes, as well as the use of the entire tax for good roads, by the new Warnes bill, which was introduced in the house. Mr. Warnes agreed upon a new scale of fees. The new fees are to be $5 for a machine not over 30 horsepower, $6 not over 40 horsepower, $7 under 50 horsepower, $8 under 60 horsepower, $10 over 60 horsepower.

There are a number of Democratic members in both the house and senate who consider the governor's school program a little topheavy and are preparing to take a whack at the county supervision plan. The main objection seems to be the added expense.

ASSAILANT CAUGHT

AWFUL CONFESSION OF MAN AND GIRL

Galesburg, Ill., Jan. 20.—Robert Higgins confessed that he murdered his wife at New Henderson Ill., Jan. 5, so he would be free to marry his stepdaughter, Julia Flake, 15. He was arrested after the girl told State's Attorney John M. Wilson of Mercer county of her infatuation for Higgins and that she implored him to dispose of her mother, who, she said, was the only obstacle between her and happiness.

NEWS OUR FATHERS READ

By John E. M. Kerr.

September 26, 1872.

Capt. Allen Hegler and Henry L. Robinson have been chosen President and Secretary of the Washington Grant and Wilson Club.

Mr. S. L. Johnson, at present teller in the Fayette National Bank in this town, has been chosen to fill the position of cashier of a new National Bank just organized at New Lexington.

The following card of invitation was picked up in an old building adjoining the Town Hall, now being erected on Fayette street, and handed to us by L. S. Chester. It is in a good state of preservation and its resurrection after 32 years of silent slumber and its appearance in print now will undoubtedly be a matter of surprise to the parties named in it. It has certainly taken a tip Van Winkle sleep:

Washington, Nov. 17, 1840

"The company of Miss Jones is respectfully solicited to attend a social party at the City Hotel on the 20th inst., at 5 o'clock p. m.

Robert Cissna.

It has been suggested to us that the colored troops who fought so nobly at the election polls on Tuesday last for Grant and Wilson, grabbed up Brother Gould's rooster, and made rather a late supper of the fowl that evening. At all events, the rooster has not been heard to crow since the election. Perhaps the chicken has become disgusted with the crow business and is laboring under a severe attack of the gapes. Poor chicken.

JEFFERSONVILLE INSTITUTE ENDS

Officers Chosen for Coming Year Following One of the Best Farmers' Institutes Ever Held in Jeffersonville—Citizens From All Parts of County Attend Sessions.

The eleventh annual Farmers' Institute of Jeffersonville, following the corn show on last Friday and Saturday, passes into the annals of past events leaving a record as one of the most successful and ably conducted institutes since the founding of the organization.

In every way it was a great success. There were crowded sessions, leading farmers from a wide radius attending and the discussions of animated interest on a par with the excellent speakers, Mr. George E. Scott, of Columbiana county, and Mr. Tressler, of Williams county. Both speakers were well received and handled farm topics of vital interest with the ready co-operation of local farmers.

The subjects of "Silage and Ensilage" and "Conservation of the Soil" received the maximum of attention.

Hon. Reuben Rankin, who has splendidly filled the office of president since the organization of the institute, presided with his usual ability, and directed the discussions in channels most advantageous to farming interests.

The ladies' session was both delightful and beneficial on Saturday afternoon, and a satisfactory climax to the institute.

Dr. Mary Anderson, of Clinton county proved an interesting speaker on the subject of "Home Economics". Mrs. Dallas H. Reading presided and associated with her on the Executive committee were Mrs. Ford Ervin and Mrs. Wallace Jones.

The institute officers elected for the coming year are: President, Herman Smith; vice-president, Albert Armstrong; secretary, Ora Allen; executive committee, A. S. Booco, A. G. Blessing, S. A. Yeoman, Mrs. Minnie J. Reading.

BRADFORD ARRESTED IN GREENE COUNTY

William Bradford, alias William Davis, who, with six others, escaped from the Ross county jail nearly two years ago, has been captured at Cedarville, Greene county, and returned to Chillicothe to face charges pending against him.

It was thought that Bradford was hanging about this city, shortly after he had made his escape. It is said his former home was in Washington.

Bradford is a youth of 18 years, and the charge against him was attempted highway robbery. He is the sixth man of the seven who escaped from the Ross county jail, who has been captured.

But when you have the opportunity of a life time and a chance to save money, why do you go to Columbus and other cities to buy? Why not get together and have a store in your town?

Everyone knows that you cannot get a good piano for $200 or $225; that a good high grade piano costs from $325 to $450. It is impossible to get something for nothing and unreasonable to expect it.

The Chute & Butler Piano will be handled in your town in the future. Why not get one now and save from $200 to $125. Our time is short and we must get busy NOW. Come in and have a talk with us and get our prices.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY ORGANIZED

Sunday, the feast day of the "Holy Name" in the Catholic church, offered itself most appropriately for the first public meeting of the recently organized "Holy Name" Society of St. Colman's church.

The "Holy Name" Society is one of the strongest organizations of the church, and its purpose is for the promoting of high standards of morality, especially in regard to the abstinence from profane language and a reverential use of the name of God.

Practically all the men of the church are included in the new society and it was a fine body of men that gathered for the communion mass in the morning, and in the evening to listen to a specially called speaker, Rev. Fr. Clark, of Cincinnati.

Rev. Clark is an eloquent speaker sent out by the church all over the country to address business men along practical religious lines, and his address was one of absorbing interest.

The speaker advanced a strong argument for religion as against its opposing socialist tendencies.

Rev. Father Fogarty, pastor of St. Colmans, acted as master of ceremonies during the evening service.

The button of the order was conferred upon the members at this time.

The society is chiefly organized for religious purposes and will hold monthly meetings.

Rev. Fr. Fogarty is spiritual director and the officers elected were: President, V. J. Dahl; vice-president, Chas. Cullen; secretary, Frank Colopy; treasurer, Thomas Frayne.

CORN GROWN IN ARGENTINE REPUBLIC

The Miami Gran Company of Xenia recently received a sample of the corn grown in the Argentine Republic which is now coming into the United States, duty free, under the new tariff bill and, competing with American corn.

In quality there is absolutely no comparison. The Argentine corn is small, imperfect and appears to be damaged by some insect. Still this corn has had the effect of lowering the price of American corn from 5 to 6 cents a bushel. No person buying corn for feeding purposes would choose the Argentine corn, but it is understood that it is very good for milling purposes, because it is very dry.

American corn contains from 19 per cent to 22 per cent moisture, while the Argentine corn contains a maximum of 14 per cent.—Xenia Gazette.

Remarkable Man Coming Next Sunday to Address Local Audiences—Deep Interest Manifested Throughout City and County by Thousands of Citizens.

(By Hugh C. Weir.)

A remarkable man will be the guest of this city Sunday. He is Rev. John Callahan, superintendent of the famous Hadley Rescue Mission of New York City.

In all the annals of regeneration there is no more wonderful story than that of Callahan. Bereaved of his parents at the age of six, he was sent to an orphan asylum, and when he left that institution entered on the life of a New York street waif as newsboy. A desire to see the country led him West. He made his way to Chicago by stealing rides on freight cars. In Chicago he went wrong, embarked on a life of pillage, and was sent to Joliet penitentiary. When released, a brother in Minneapolis secured him a job as bartender. When almost intoxicated, he drifted into a rescue mission one evening, where he was astounded to hear a prison mate of his at Joliet preaching the gospel. Callahan, dazed by the spectacle, staggered up the aisle, and accepted Christ. Incredible as it may seem, a new life opened to him from that hour. In spite of the depths to which he had fallen,

CAMPAIGN BULLETINS

Today marks the beginning of the second week of the Simultaneous Evangelistic Campaign. All day committees of the various churches were at work calling up every telephone subscriber in the city, and extending an invitation by wire to attend the meetings this evening.

Here are the subjects in local pulpits at the Simultaneous Evangelistic services this evening:

Presbyterian church, Dr. Shaw, "Profit and Loss."
Baptist church, Rev. Henry Brandt, "The Supreme Question."
Grace M. E. church, Rev. F. E. Ross, "A Fatal Decision."
Christian church, Rev. Bowman Hostetler, "The End of the Road."
The song service will be emphasized at all church. Special music has been arranged for this evening. The meetings open at 7:30. Mr. Hostetler at the Christian church announces a special series of sermons beginning Wednesday evening on "Steps Into the Kingdom."

New post cards with pictures of all the workers and ministers in the campaign will be ready this week. In the meantime, the post cards already issued can be obtained at all local stores.

Thursday night will be observed as a church competition night. An effort will be made to see which of the local congregations can obtain the largest audience in proportion to its membership on that evening.

Services at the A. M. E. church are attracting much attention. Special music and special sermons are announced for all week.

he threw off the drink habit, gave up his job in the saloon, abandoned his former associates, and embarked on a life of Christian service. This was more than twenty years ago. Today John Callahan is head of one of the most famous rescue missions in the world, where he has led thousands of men, like his former self, to conversion.

His visit to this city will be an event of special interest. He will address a big men's meeting Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., and will probably speak from one or more local pulpits in addition.

BUSINESS MEN ENTHUSIASTIC.
Is the Simultaneous Evangelistic Campaign to be a success?

What is a business man's opinion of its results to date?

What may the community hope to expect from it when its work is finally completed?

These are the questions put to a number of the leading residents of this city last night, men, whose success in the business and professional world, and whose standing as citizens, gives to their statements unusual weight. Their answers are given below:

Mr. Thomas H. Craig, of the well-known firm of Craig Bros., said in reply to these queries: "The campaign is a success now. If it were to end today, it would be a splendid success. The results of such a movement can never be measured by definite, visible statistics. The impetus toward the better things of life can not be put into figures, and such an impetus has already been started by the campaign. As a business man, I feel that it has already been magnificently worth while, and I am convinced that its success will be multiplied before its completion."

Judge Frank Carpenter of Common Pleas court, when asked for a statement in this connection, gave this emphatic reply: "Such a movement is always to be commended and supported, and especially so in this instance. I am sure from the expressions I have heard in all walks of life that the evangelistic campaign is going to make for a better, and a cleaner city. Of course, it is going to succeed."

Mr. Charles U. Armstrong, of the Washington Savings bank said: "The success of the campaign is already apparent. There is no doubting its effect all over the county. And it has only just commenced. I feel that we are going to see remarkable results before the movement is completed. The people are responding nobly, and to a degree that is surprising at what might be called only the outset of the movement."

Henry Brownell made this statement: "There is no question that we are going to see one of the most magnificent results in the history of Fayette county. No man who has studied the attitude of the community can question the degree of interest that has already been aroused. We have got to recognize several facts in this connection, however. The preachers can't do all of the work. The pews of our churches have got to do their part. The men of our churches especially must realize that it is not enough to get out to the services. They have a definite, vital work to do that is quite as important as that of the minister. It rests largely with them to give an invitation to the man outside the church influence, and if necessary put the matter of his religion or lack of it up to him in a personal way. This is a chance that comes only once in many years to give this city a new spirit, a new ideal."

Judge Rell Allen, of Probate court declared in his characteristic fashion: "I would hate to think that a movement such as this is not going to be a success in this community. It is a man's size effort to emphasize the things of life that most of us don't think enough about. It is just such a movement that the community has long needed, a real, get-together crusade to stir the whole county. No matter how well our laws are enforced they are not going to make a clean city in themselves. The law won't make a man good. He needs something besides the law, something that comes from inside. It is this which the evangelistic campaign can supply, and I for one am confident of a big success for it in the end."

Frank Fullerton, the well-known insurance man, stated: "There is no limit to God's power. His presence is here now. I am convinced that we can look for a marvelous outpouring of His blessing on this community in the very near future."

Judge T. N. Craig said: "It is seldom that a religious campaign is started with such system and organization and attention to practical details. We have seen this movement launched after weeks of careful planning. A vast amount of labor must have entered into it even before the first service was held. And there is no doubt that this preparation has accomplished vital results. No one can question the public interest. Men are talking about it, arguing about the questions it has raised, discussing subjects which some of them have not thought of perhaps for years. The campaign is going to sweep the county before it is completed. We must remember, however, that it needs something more than organization. It needs a real evidence of the Divine Spirit, and I believe that this is already being wonderfully manifested."

SERVICES BEGIN TONIGHT.
The second week of the evangelistic campaign proper, opens this evening when services in all local churches will be resumed at 7:30 o'clock. The executive committee last night expressed the conviction that the coming week will establish a number of new religious records in this city.

"I am assured," said Secretary Zaner, "that both the attendance and the conversions of the coming week will make the community sit up and take unusual notice. The campaign is only just under way. Excluding the week of preliminary prayer meetings, the services have continued for only one week. On Sunday we saw all church records of attendance completely smashed. I am of the confident belief that the movement has attained a popular impetus which will pack our churches all week, and which will lead many to a new vision of life."

The campaign will go with a rush all week. Services were held today at the Palace Theater at 12:30, and at the Chair Factory at noon. The culminating feature of the week will be the parade of all Sunday school children on Saturday afternoon, with Judge Rell Allen as grand marshal of the day. Next Sunday will be observed as Decision Day in the Sunday schools, and as "Everybody to Church" day in the community.

JURORS PREJUDICED

New York, Jan. 20.—At the trial of Hans Schmidt, the self-confessed murderer of Anna Ammiller, a panel of 100 was soon exhausted, only four jurors being secured. From questions put to the talesmen it would appear that there is a prejudice against the defense of insanity. More than 80 per cent were excused because they swore they did not put any faith in such testimony. Mr. Whitman asked of the talesmen if recent developments in the Shaw case would affect their judgment in the trial of a case where insanity was the defense. Many said it would, and were excused from service.

How Good That MUSTEROLE Feels!

A-a-h! That's delicious relief for those sore muscles, those stiff joints, that lame back.

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard and other home simples. It does the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster, minus the plaster and minus the blister!

You simply rub MUSTEROLE on the spot where the pain is—rub it on briskly—and the pain is gone.

No muss, no bother. Just comforting, soothing relief—first a gentle glow, then a delightful sense of coolness. And best of all, no blisters like the old-fashioned mustard plaster used to make.

There is nothing like MUSTEROLE for Sore Throat, Branchitis, Tonsillitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Headache, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chills, Blains, Frosted Feet and Colds of the Chest (it prevents Pneumonia).

Doctors and nurses frankly recommend MUSTEROLE. It is used in large hospitals.

At your druggist's, in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Accept no substitute. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25c or 50c to the MUSTEROLE Company, Cleveland, Ohio, and we will send you a jar, postage prepaid.

Charles H. Kelley, Philadelphia, Pa., says:

"I have great faith in Musterole; indeed, I have prescribed it for several of my patients this week; it is a very valuable remedy."

ENTERED CLAIM AGAINST MEXICO

Washington, Jan. 20.—It is costing the United States $2,500 a day to feed the Mexican federal soldiers and the women and children who fled to the United States after the capture of Ojinaga by the rebels. Already the war department has spent $100,000 in caring for Mexicans who have sought asylum in the United States, exclusive of what it has cost to feed and shelter the refugees from Ojinaga.

It has been decided that these expenditures shall be entered by this government as a claim against Mexico. Accordingly, the war department transmitted to Secretary Bryan a statement of the $300,000 expenditure and other statements will follow as the expenditures continue. The state department will seek appropriations from congress to pay these bills and will reimburse the war department for its expenditures and the account will then be carried as a charge against the Mexican government to be presented whenever the settlement of claims is undertaken.

SHOOT UP WARDEN'S OFFICE

Former Congressman From Illinois and Three Prison Officials Killed by Prisoners, Who Jump Into a Buggy, Using Girl and Clerk as a Shield, but Are Shot Dead by Guards—Bloody Fray in Oklahoma.

McAlester, Okla. Jan. 20.—Judge John R. Thomas, former congressman from Illinois; P. C. Oates, assistant warden; F. C. Godfrey, day sergeant, and H. H. Drover, Berillon expert, were killed at the state penitentiary by Tom Lane, Chinese convict, and Charles Kuntz, convicts, who secured money and then fled from the prison. The escaping convicts were, however, killed before they succeeded in getting off the prison farm.

The three prisoners slipped through the store room in the basement and up a dark stairway that leads to the cage at the entrance to the main building. They appeared at the door of the cage just as the turnkey was locking the gate after letting out some parties.

Thrusting a gun in the face of the guard they demanded the keys. After a little parleying they succeeded in getting the keys, and as they reached through the bars to unlock the gates the guard, Jack Martin, ran for the warden's room. Pat Oates, the assistant warden, and Martin told him to get a gun. Oates and Martin stepped into a side room as the convicts entered the first suite of rooms used by the officers of the jail. They ran through the first room, which connects with the second. Then they continued into the last room, which is Warden Dick's.

WARDEN'S ROOM SHOT UP.

In the warden's room was Judge John R. Thomas, former congressman from Illinois, and of late years a citizen of Muskogee. He was talking to a prisoner whom he had been called to consult. The convicts rushed into the room and demanded that all present put up their hands. Judge Thomas responded and begged that he be not killed, but in the fight that followed he was shot through the heart.

the convicts, was cornered; placing her in their arms, with Rice in front, the prisoners attempted to beat their way back to the front office and to the entrance. By this time Pat Oates had secured a gun, and as they attempted to come out of the warden's office Oates shot and wounded Kuntz.

The convicts made a stand against Oates, and as the officer tried to shoot they held the girl and Rice in front of them. Watching his opportunity, one convict threw his arm around the casing of the door and shot Oates through the head, killing him instantly.

Used Girl as Shield. Working their way to the entrance and unlocking the front gate, the convicts pushed the girl and Rice in front of them, right past the tower, where two sentry guards stood, and defied them to shoot.

Getting into a buggy that was standing at the driveway in front of the prison, the men loaded in the girl and Rice and lifted in the wounded Kuntz and started on the farm road that leads west of the prison. They met the keeper of the bloodhounds, George Richie, who was riding a horse. Taking in the situation, Richie dismounted and began shooting, regardless of the girl and Rice. His first shot hit Lane in the head and he dropped forward on Rice. Chinese Reed, answering the fire, was next shot by Richie. As Lane tumbled from the buggy Rice threw Reed out and fell himself on the ground and lay still as though shot.

By this time guards were running and a number of shots had been fired at the occupants of the buggy from long distance. The girl, who was prostrated and also shot through the thigh, lay in the buggy and was rescued in a few minutes after the firing ceased.

The toll of human life was seven, four killed in the office by the convicts and the three convicts in trying to escape.

Martin, the turnkey, was shot in the face while making the fight by the side of Oates, but not seriously hurt, and another convict by attempting to assist Oates was cut in the face.

WOMAN SHOT IN BEARDSLEY CAMP

Jamestown, N. Y., Jan. 20.—All connected with the siege of the home of Edward Beardsley at Summerdale took a day off. Sheriff Anderson relies upon the promise of Beardsley to surrender to his attorney, Ray F. Pickard, tomorrow, but he has no illusions on the subject, for Beardsley has made promises before.

What may bring the whole business to a focus is the accidental wounding of the woman in the Beardsley house. Beardsley said that the woman was suffering intensely from the wound and asked the sheriff to permit his reputed wife, now in jail, to return to the home to care for her sister. The sheriff refused the request.

The woman herself says her name is Ethel Austin, and she declares she was never married to Beardsley. "I will never return to that house," she added. The woman in the Beardsley house is Miss Austin's sister. She goes by the name of Mrs. Edna Pier. Five of the nine children in the house are hers. Beardsley declares they are not his. The other four children belong to Ethel Austin. Beardsley says he is their father. The brother at Titusville has agreed to take care of the whole outfit.

NOTED JURIST IS ON CARPET

Judge Speer's Mentality Attacked At the Inquiry.

HIS COUNSEL SEEM CONFIDENT

Declare the Jurist's Delay In Entering a Mandate of Supreme Court Will Be Satisfactorily Explained. Proceedings of the First Session of the Investigation Into the Official Conduct of Judge Speer.

Macon, Ga., Jan. 20.—While it was shown here during the investigation of the official conduct of United States Judge Speer, of the southern district of Georgia that he had ordered the release of one of his negro servants, convicted and sentenced to the chain gang, and later had cited several city officials for contempt of court in connection with the same case, and then had taken six months in which to enter the mandate of the supreme court, which held that Judge Speer had no authority in the case, the array of lawyers for the noted jurist feel that they scored in the first day's inquiry.

In a statement to the investigating committee, which consists of Representatives Edwin Y. Webb, chairman; Andrew J. Volstead and Louis Fitzhenry, Judge Speer's chief counsel, Former Congressman William Howard, indicated that he would satisfactorily explain the delay in entering the mandate.

Clerk of Court Cecil Morgan, a brother-in-law of Judge Speer, admitted on the witness stand that the mandate was issued on Nov. 24, 1905, and was not entered until June 8, 1906. He replied to direct questions that he did not know why the order had not been heeded; Judge Speer had not explained.

Colonel Howard stated that it was necessary to make the entry in open court. He claimed that Speer had the right to interfere with a writ of habeas corpus in the city court case; that an illegal fine had been imposed, and that there was no open session of court in Macon during the interim of six months referred to.

The mental soundness of Judge Speer was next attacked when John R. L. Smith, a noted lawyer of this city, was called to the stand and stated "I believe Judge Speer's mentality is bad, impaired and variant. His grasp of things is not as quick as formerly." He admitted they were formerly good friends.

In response to other questions he stated further: "Judge Speer's career on the bench has been high-handed, domineering, dictatorial, somewhat untrammelled by law, characterized in a measure by favoritism to a few and a corresponding antipathy to another clique."

CAMORRA HEAD FORFEITS BOND

New York, Jan. 20.—Frank Filasto, head of the Camorra in this country, who was sentenced to five years in Atlanta penitentiary for white slavery and then let out on $15,000 bail to await the result of his appeal, has disappeared and is being hunted for by agents of the department of justice, who believe that he is hiding in this city.

Filasto's bail bond was forfeited after the United States circuit court of appeals had sent to Judge Killits in the criminal branch of the court its mandate affirming the finding of the jury in the lower court. Joseph Ribuffo, who was convicted with Filasto and sentenced to two years, was in court, but Filasto failed to answer when his name was called. Ribuffo was merely one of Filasto's agents in an alleged conspiracy to sell immigrant girls into white slavery.

MOVING PICTURES OF MARCH FLOOD

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 20.—Showing the Mississippi flood devastation, its magnitude, and the means of controlling the stream and preventing floods, one of the most remarkable moving picture films ever exhibited in Memphis was shown to a private audience at one of the Majestic Theaters yesterday morning.

It shows the 1913 flood at its worst near Helena, Ark., the Beulah crevasse, and the manner in which it was closed, despite a high stage of water.

This film will be exhibited before members of the House and Senate in Washington next week. John A. Fox, Secretary-Manager of the Mississippi River Levee Association, will use it as an argument in favor of the Ransdell-Humphreys bill, the $60,000,000 flood measure now before Congress.

One of the pictures shows 400 feet of earth gradually slipping into the Mississippi River opposite Helena, Ark.; another shows the water beating the levees from the tops of trees as it rushed through the crevasse at Beulah, Miss.; another gives a view of a big force of men at work near Helena, Ark., sinking mattresses to prevent further caving. The manner in which the big net works are sunk near the levees and on the banks of the river is shown most clearly.

Replying, Governor Cox insisted that Democracy is pledged to progressive measures and declared that so long as he is titular head of the party in Ohio "it will not take a backward step."

Senator Pomerene praised the achievements of the national administration, and ex-Governor Campbell took a mild fling at the administration's attitude toward Mexico.

LITTLE STORIES ABOUT OHIO

BY CHARLES E. CHIDESTER

CLEVELAND—BORDER LINE OF EMPIRE

For 225 years Cleveland stood on the boundry line between two powerful empires.

From 1535 to 1760, the confederated Six Nations of Indians, immediately east of the Cuyahoga river, held its frontier against the encroachments of the tribes on the west, of whom the great chief, Pontiac, as late as 1763 was the Napoleon.

Nearly 230 years ago French missionaries began to teach Christianity on the banks of the Cuyahoga meaning in the Indian language "crooked." Letters written by them to Madame Manteon, wife of Louis XIV still in existence, tell of the wonderful forests and streams of the section.

Previous to that time the section of Ohio, now known as Cuyahoga county, had been the rendezvous of powerful northern tribes of aborigines, who finally wrested the territory within the state of Ohio from the less warlike tribes which flourished along the Ohio river. In remote ages, the county was the bed of Lake Erie, while skeletons and bones and tusks show that mastodons and giant creatures once roved its hills and dales.

The first settlement by white men of the county was in 1755, when a Frenchman established a trading station in Brooklyn township, 5 miles from the city of Cleveland. Thirty-one years later David Zeisberger, the Moravian missionary, reached the mouth of the Cuyahoga in a vessel called the Mackinaw. He sailed up the river, settling at what is now the town of Independence.

One hundred and seventeen years ago two men, J. V. Stiles and Edward Paine, passed the winter on the site of the city of Cleveland. Two years afterward Rodolphus Edwards and Nathaniel Doane, with their families settled on the lake front and promptly took malarial fever. Seth Doane, then 13, alone had sufficient strength to walk, and he, after his daily attack of ague, went to Newburg, five miles distant, for corn, crushed it in a hand mill, waited until the second attack of the "shakes" had passed and then walked home.

Cure was wrought by the use of barks of various trees.

FISH AND GAME SOCIETY GROWING

Membership Expected to Reach Near 100 Mark by Next Meeting of the Organization—Many New Members Added Since Last Meeting.

The Fayette County Fish and Game Association, which bids fair to have much influence in the protection of game and fish in Fayette Co. for many years to come, is making a splendid growth, and since the last meeting, when fifty-four had become members of the organization, more than thirty additional applications for membership have been received by various members of the society.

It is expected that by the time the next meeting is held in February that the number of members will reach close to 100.

Some who have not been able to see the officers personally have mailed their membership fee.

One of the principal works of the organization is to see that the fish and game laws are enforced, and with a large membership scattered through the county it will be an easier matter to apprehend violators of the law and cause their punishment.

General John C. Speaks will probably be present at the next meeting of the organization, Monday evening, February 2nd.

$175 PAID STATE FOR INSTITUTES

Auditor Henkle received a statement from the State Agricultural Commission, Tuesday morning, for the sum of $175 due the state for farmers' institutes held in this county this winter.

The amount is due the state under one of the late laws, and was promptly forwarded by Auditor Henkle.

In addition to the above amount going to the state, the county pays the local expenses of the various farmers' institutes, not to exceed $25 for each institute. The various institutes will cost the county approximately $275, it is claimed.

BASE BALL MEET

By Associated Press. Lexington, Ky., Jan. 20.—The club owners of the Ohio State Base ball League met here today to decide terms for the season. Floods of last spring caused severe financial loss to clubs in this circuit and as a result a reorganization may be necessary.

The clubs which announced their intention of continuing in the league are Lexington, Charleston, Huntington, Portsmouth and Ironton.

CRABS ROOT UP SAPLINGS.

They Also Steal Eggs From Under Sitting Hens.

London.—Some interesting facts respecting the destructiveness of certain species of crabs in Grand Cayman, an island in the British West Indies, appear in a bulletin just issued from the Royal botanic gardens at Kew and written by T. M. S. English, who has lived there three years.

The edible crab, he says, grows to a considerable size, an old male being sometimes six inches across and having its larger claw no less than fourteen inches in length from its junction with the body to the end of its "jaws." The female has smaller claws, but apparently it is more destructive.

They are great burrowers and cannibals too. In places where they abound nothing is safe from them. They will take into their holes things for which they cannot conceivably find a use—a knife, for instance, or a pocket compass. They will eat the eggs from under a sitting hen, if not the hen herself, as readily as the leaves of seedling coconut trees, and of these from 6 to 10 per cent have to be replaced if they are planted in newly cleared ground before the crabs have been very thoroughly thinned out. They are responsible for frequent patches of bare soil in the "bush," which become covered with vegetation when the crabs are gone.
